

OCTOBER 2008

Valor Equity Partners is pleased to announce its recent partnership with the management of North American Coatings, LLC, and is actively seeking strategic acquisition candidates.

North American Coatings, LLC (“NAC”) operates in the specialty coatings segment of the industrial and infrastructure maintenance market. NAC performs surface preparation and applies fireproofing, corrosion resistant coatings and various specialty coatings for power generation facilities, oil and natural gas refineries and distributors, petrochemical processors, theme parks, and state and municipal government installations. Current operations are located in the Midwest, Florida, Southern California and the Gulf Coast. As part of its growth strategy, NAC is targeting strategic acquisition candidates that provide similar services in different geographic regions and industries, or provide complementary services in like geographic regions and industries.